WEDNESDAY ROUNDUP
Wednesday on deadline there are always scores of strands of unfinished business in every weekly newspaper the country over. The NEWS is no exception to this! Often the news comes in too late to be set in type and ready for our early runs.

This week for instance, we must remind you that if you are planning to send an overseas package, you must have it in the postoffice by Nov. 15... then, too, Lee Shippey stopped in to say that his neighbors, the Edward Schrotzbergers, are the parents of a new baby. He says it's a girl, because there's a sign on their door announcing this fact... congratulations... more about the youngster next week... George Haggood, post supervisor of the Pasadena area of Ground Observers Corps, visited our office this week and told us that his group is in need of volunteers to take the watch from 12 midnight to 6 a.m. in two-hour shifts. He can be reached at S Ycamore 4-1549, if you can give an helping eye.

Col. and Mrs. Walter Thurber are convinced that the NEWS has tremendous pulling power. They were kind enough to report this week that they have received an inquiry from a New Yorker asking for information on the five-acre government sites which they advertised in our paper.

We gave our Scout's Honor Pledge to Anthony Cavalli, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, that we would not reveal the nature of the interesting new Christmas theme to be displayed in the Square during the coming Yuletide season. We can only say that it will be beautiful... for the rest you must wait until the Chamber makes its official announcement. Incidentally, the City Council voted the Chamber $250 towards Christmas decorations at Tuesday's meeting.

The other day a pin inscribed "To Juliet," was found in Roberts Market. A classified ad was run in an effort to find its owner, but we understand that no one has yet claimed it. Somehow the thought of the pin has crossed our mind a thousand times during our busiest hours. It carries the date of June 20, 1866. Sometimes when we're in the middle of writing a story or when we're saying a prayer with our 5-year-old or when the phone buzzes in our ear, we think of the pin and Juliet. Eighty years ago! Eighty years ago Juliet received it from someone who loved her very much.

There is a further inscription on it which we do not know and which we do not wish to know, for then our delightful little game of whimsy might be brought to an end. Was Juliet fair? Was she good? Was it a gift from her lover? Was it a reward for scholastic excellence? The date June 20 might point to the latter. But then again it might be a groom's gift to a beautiful June bride... or a father's remembrance to a favorite child.

1866 — what was life like then? Did Juliet live in early California or was she a very proper young Englishwoman? Was laughter an easy companion to Juliet; or was she sharp and quick tempered? We shall probably never know any more about her than we know now. But that's all right, too. Juliet has already earned a place in our heart for the wonderful moments of escape she has provided and because of this, a Twentieth Century career woman wishes to propose a toast to another era and "To Juliet!"

Twists Ankle—
Fractures Elbow

With automobile accidents so much in the news, Schuyler G. Erwin decided last Monday that walking to downtown Sierra Madre would be as safe a way as any he could think of, but after leaving his home at 387 N. Baldwin, he twisted his ankle, fell to the sidewalk, and broke his elbow.

Officer Jim Heasley who saw the accident from a police car drove Erwin to the Sierra Madre Medical Center where he was treated for fracture.

Float Ass'n
Starts Early
Work on Entry

It was "committee night" at the meeting of the Sierra Madre Float Association held in City Hall last Thursday night. On that evening committees to handle practically all phases of the float to be entered in the Tournament of Roses parade were appointed by President William Hawkins.

Queens must be selected to grace the float and flowers and other materials must be secured for the New Year's entry. It is reported that it may even be necessary to nudge the elbows of some persons who have promised contributions to the float fund, but have not yet sent them in.

The tentative design for the float also was outlined and it is expected that a model of it will be ready late this week. "Good Things Come in Small Packages" was recently selected as the theme for the 1955 float.

The $402 netted from the Rose Days Sale, together with pledges in hand and other contributions orally promised, is enough to guarantee the creation of a creditable float, but additional funds really are needed to put the project on a comfortable, solid basis, float members reported.

Anyone may join the association by paying $1 or more. R. C. Lewis of the Bank of Sierra Madre will be glad to accept contributions at the bank at any time. It is hoped that all those who have given pledges will fulfill the pledged amounts to save the committee from having to contact them.

The following persons were given committee assignments: Ways and Means—Charles Twedell, Miss Elaine Park, Mrs. S. Lumbard, Mrs. Ella Nourse and Mrs. Harriett Merritt; Procurement—Mrs. Mark Schaeffer and Murray Owen; General Committee—Mrs. B. N. Cousins, Mac A. Cason, Harvey H. Owen, J. M. Chambers, Mrs. Maggie Ascher and Walter Goodwin. Mrs. B. N. Cousins will also serve as corresponding secretary.

'Chest' Fund
Over Half
Way Mark

Funds collected in the Community Chest drive amount to a little more than $4000 toward the goal of $7500 after almost three weeks campaigning, according to a report late yesterday by Newell Barrett, campaign chairman.

More money is due if promises made to the house-to-house canvassers are kept by the residents who made them at times when volunteer workers were told that, in lieu of cash payments on the spot, checks would be mailed. So far, less than one half the checks promised to be mailed have been received.

Some of the campaign workers also have yet to turn in their kits, which means that either they have not made all the solicitations on their routes or else they have been tardy in turning over their collections. In most cases, however, Barrett reports a 100 per cent cooperation in the funds drive.

With approximately 100 persons, most of them women, volunteering to assist in the campaign Barrett says he hopes the drive can be brought to a successful conclusion before Thanksgiving.

Of the $7500 to be divided among eight of Sierra Madre's most worthy organizations, at least $1000 is anticipated from local business establishments. About $700 of that $1000 already has been received from business firms here, with the Bank of Sierra Madre leading the list with a donation of $200.

'Passion For Life'
PTA Program Film

The widely acclaimed French picture, "Passion For Life," equipped with English subtitles, will be the feature of the Nov. 18 meeting of the PTA at the Sierra Madre City School auditorium.

Parents of students in St. Rita's School and the Church of the Ascension Day School are being extended an invitation to view with PTA members, the 89-minute film which has been described by the U.S. Commissioner of Education as "showing the achievements of modern education better than any other graphic presentation."

Committee Formed For
Care of Local Cemetery
Mrs. Rudolph Hartman Will Accept Fund Contributions

Definite steps towards providing care for the Sierra Madre Cemetery were taken Monday night at a special meeting of the Coordinating Council held at the home of Mrs. T. R. Bauerle, when more than 20 persons met and formed a Cemetery Committee.

Heading the group is William Schwartz, long-time resident of the city. He will be assisted by Mrs. Maybelle C. Barker as secretary and Mrs. Rudolph Hartman as treasurer. Edward N. Voorhees will handle publicity.

Formation of the committee is the result of several months study by the Coordinating Council which has sought ways and means of establishing an organization which will provide adequate care for the long neglected cemetery property.

The need for immediate action was emphasized on Monday night and a major portion of the time was devoted to a general discussion of the purposes, objectives and needs of the cemetery.

It was the consensus of opinion of those present at the meeting, mostly cemetery lot owners, that no attempt to "modernize" the landscape of the historic old cemetery along the lines of the larger, newer cemeteries, would be made.

It was agreed that the foremost objectives of the group would be to keep it clean of debris throughout the year; to see that the water mains and outlets are kept in repair; to guard against vandalism; to trim trees and to supervise the preservation of all lots, particularly those of persons who have moved away from town. Under the plan outlined this week, part-time caretakers will be employed to handle the work.

Funds for carrying on the program of rehabilitation at the present time are expected to come from individual contributions, although a more comprehensive plan may be worked out at a later date.

It is believed that many residents of Sierra Madre who are not lot owners, but who would like to see the cemetery maintained in dignity, may wish to make contributions.

In the meantime, every effort will be made to reach by letter surviving lot owners who have moved to other localities and who may wish to give financial help.

Contributions can be addressed to Mrs. Rudolph Hartman, 460 N. Lima St. Already one 50-dollar subscription as well as several smaller ones have been received by the committee.

Union Service
On Thanksgiving

The Sierra Madre Ministerial Ass'n will sponsor a Union Thanksgiving Service again this year. The meeting will be held in the City Park at 10 a.m. Thanksgiving morning, Nov. 25. Dr. Robert Schaper, pastor of Bethany Church, and new president of the association, said this week.

The spiritual message of the morning will be brought by the Rev. Raynor Smith, pastor of the Church of Our Redeemer (Methodist). There will be special music by the combined choirs of the participating churches. Further details of the coming Thanksgiving service are expected to be available for next week's issue of the NEWS.

Progress On Debris
Basin Work Told

Lawrence Bevington, Sierra Madre's city administrator, was one of the principal speakers at the Kiwanis luncheon meeting Tuesday at the Woman's Clubhouse, along with Dr. E. Pearce Hayes, a Methodist missionary who has spent 33 years in China.

Bevington described the work being done on the city's flood control debris basins. Twenty to 30 days ahead of schedule, the work is a dangerous attraction to children, he said, and two have almost been run over by the heavy equipment. Parents are asked to keep their children away from these areas.

Dr. Pearce, who spent part of his Christian service while under Communist rule, said that democratic countries have already Surprises and more surprises are promised for the Christmas season in Sierra Madre, according to Anthony Cavalli, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

He reports that the executive committee on Christmas Decorations has several plans underway that are quite different from the usual "Santa Claus Celebration."

Santa Claus will arrive in Sierra Madre on Dec. 14 and he will be present on the Square every day until Christmas Eve. He will not only greet them, but he will have a present for each child who visits him.

Of course, there will be a tree brightly lighted in the Square throughout the Christmas season.

The committee working on Christmas plans are Jim Wolfe, Mrs. Harold F. Roberts, Tom Schwartz, Bob Green, J. C. McKibben, Mrs. Charles Lusman, Dave Roess, Don Jackson and Mrs. Ralph Hurwit.

Fatal Injuries
Suffered by Harry Sharpe

The traffic that is no longer village traffic in Sierra Madre caused the death of a pedestrian Tuesday following an accident at Sierra Madre Blvd. and Sunnyside Ave.

Harry Sharpe, 86, a resident of the British Home here since July was struck while crossing the intersection by a car driven by John W. Lorenzini Jr., 611 E. Grandview, at about 11:00 o'clock Tuesday morning. Mr. Sharpe, who was taken to the Sierra Madre Medical Center, died at 1:50 p.m. from the shock of multiple injuries that included contusions, abrasions, and vertebral fractures.

The body was taken to Ripple Mortuary pending funeral arrangements.

Harry Sharpe, a native of Surrey, England, came to America in 1922 to continue his career devoted to the breeding of horses. A magazine writer on that subject since his retirement 15 years ago, Sharpe was well known among horse racing fans.

He is survived by his wife, Alexa, at the British Home; a daughter, Mrs. Harold McQueen of South Pasadena; a son, Thomas R. Sharpe of British Columbia, Canada, and two grandsons.

Hearings To Be Continued at Meeting Monday Night, 7:30

City Council members played to a packed house Tuesday night when residents living in the areas of the proposed street improvements came en masse to voice their opinions on the subject of installation of curbs, gutters and paving of certain street sections. Views expressed by the citizens ranged from those of hearty approval to equally robust protests against increased street assessments and the possible threat to the rural atmosphere of Sierra Madre. As a result of the protests, City Council members postponed action on the projects until Nov. 23, the date of the next regular Council meeting.

The street sections under consideration are: Ramona Ave. from Park to Hermosa; Fairview Ave. from Michillinda to a point approximately 150 feet east of Sunnyside; Carter Ave. from Lima to the Wistaria Vine entrance and a small section of upper Michillinda Blvd. Estimated cost of the work on the above projects is $27,456.

Immobile Car
Almost Causes
Death of Boy

A 19-year-old automobile that was only 15 minutes new to its youthful owner almost cost the life of a friend Sunday even though the car was standing still.

Thomas Lamb, 16 this Saturday, of 696 Ramona Ave., was helping renovate the car belonging to Robert Vis, 15, immediately after the old automobile was delivered to Vis' home at 32 Park Ave. Finding a broken window on the passenger's side of the front seat, Lamb attempted to break away the remaining glass by slamming his hand to it. The muscles and tendons of his right arm were slashed to the bone from his wrist to his elbow.

According to surgeons at St. Luke Hospital, Lamb's life was saved through the combined action of Mrs. Irene Vis, her neighbor, Mrs. Mary Myers, and Police Officer Al Mazzuca. Officer Mazzuca rushed Lamb to the hospital instead of waiting for the ambulance, called by Mrs. Vis, to arrive.

Mrs. Myers, riding in the police car, used her hands in place of a tourniquet to stop the flow of blood which amounted to more than three pints. Lamb, who has been hospitalized for several days, had 50 stitches taken in his arm, but is said to be recovering.

Dedication of
New School
November 21

For the first time in 29 years, Sierra Madreans will have an opportunity to help dedicate a new school building. On Sunday, Nov. 21, the beautiful new Sierra Mesa School at the corner of Highland and Canon will have its official "unveiling," even though it has been occupied since the beginning of school in September.

Special invitations are being sent to Mayor Louie, members of the City Council, Sierra Madre pastors, past officers of the PTA, presidents of all local organizations, past presidents of the board of trustees, representatives from St. Rita's School and Church of the Ascension Day School, Community Nursery School, the architect and contractors.

Severin Sorensen, prominent in local educational activities, will give the main address of the afternoon on a subject not yet announced.

Students of the new school will sing and refreshments will be served by members of the PTA and the ERC.

It is hoped that as many of the general public as possible will be in attendance. Dr. Milton Valois, president of the board of trustees said this week.

New Burning Hours
Effective Dec. 23

City Administrator Lawrence Bevington announced this week that the new burning hours of 4 to 7 p.m. will not go into effect until Dec. 23 because due process of law must be observed.

Since the second reading of the ordinance will not be held until Nov. 23, the temporary ordinance will not be effective until 30 days after that date, Dec. 23. Unless further action is taken, the ordinance will automatically expire on Feb. 8, 1955.

FIRE FLAMES

By JAMES HEASLEY

Strange as it may seem, there is an apparent respect for "Old Snort" that passed unnoticed before. This has come about since the city has been assured of a new pump to replace the famous old fire wagon.

The old truck has served the city and the firemen very well during its many years. As the town's first auto fire truck after the days of hand carts and reels, it was a pride to those who manned it. They, in the old days, were just as proud of "Old Snort" as we will be of the new pump. And that's important. It's good for the morale of firemen to be proud of their fighting equipment.

The volunteer firemen here all have their own personal business jobs to do, yet they are mighty serious about keeping the fire department in an efficient operation at all times. All residents and tax payers should be interested in knowing that these firemen also make many efforts to reduce the cost of operation without lessening the outfit's efficiency.

With the city growing so rapidly, the increasing population adds to the fire dangers. Good luck and the conscientious co-operation of the firemen have saved us from a major fire disaster for many years so far as homes and other properties are concerned.

It doesn't mean that "nothing will ever happen." A large fire can spring from a small one—usually does. If and when that happens the best of equipment is sorely needed. That's why, as time passes, the department expects to add whatever equipment and supplies are necessary to keep us in top shape. Saving damage to property more than pays for the newer fire fighting tools.

On another subject—the time has come when all good firemen will be making the rounds with books of tickets for the "Big Party" to be held at the Woman's Clubhouse Saturday.

Tennis Tourney Deadline Nov. 11

Deadline for entries in the third and last tennis tournament for the season is 9 o'clock tonight. Players over 12 years of age who wish to compete are invited to call Jim Holt at Custer 5-6838 or Bill Owen at Custer 5-6188.

The entry fee is $1. All money collected is used to buy tennis balls and trophies. Only individual entries are accepted in keeping with the Sunningdale handicap system used in the tournament.

Dec. 18. Whether you can attend or not your donations will assist in providing the traditional Christmas Eve Party for the children and baskets for the needy.

Come on you guys and gals, please buy your tickets!

Doubles are determined by a drawing. The Sunningdale system also includes the rule whereby a winning player starts his next game minus one point, retaining that handicap until he loses a game at which time he is rid of the handicap.

Only four California Junior College teams can still boast of perfect 1954 records in the race for the Junior Rose Bowl, while two others are unbeaten but once-tied.

The following is a list of teams very much in contention to defend Western honor in the ninth annual Junior Rose Bowl game, December 11:

Team	Record
Antelope Valley	7-0
Bakersfield	6-0
West Contra Costa	6-0
El Camino	6-0
Compton	6-0-1
San Francisco CC	5-0-1
Mt. San Antonio	5-1
College of Sequoias	5-1

This week Pasadena High is up at Las Vegas, a team that is supposed to be the toughest they have met all year. They have to win this one and the game with Muir on Nov. 23 to stay in contention for the postseason CIF playoffs near the end of this month. We're going to pick Pasadena to win by a touchdown.

In other games here and abroad... Muir High travels up to Santa Barbara this week. They're going to need more than Dave Hargraves for this one. Santa Barbara 20, Muir 13. PCC goes up to Boise, Idaho. Boise doesn't have the backfield, but they have the line. Boise 33, Pasadena 19.

SC battles Washington at the Coliseum. Who's going to stop Arnett? SC 20, Washington 14.

Notre Dame plays host to North Carolina. A good game for the Irish to get in shape for the Iowa game the following week. Notre Dame 34, North Carolina 13.

Ohio State against Purdue. The Buckeyes looked good last week against Pitt. Ohio State 20, Purdue 14.

Slippery Rock vs. Rhode Island Teachers. Slippery Rock will be up for this one. The Rocks 3, Teachers 0.

HEALTH YOUR

CANCER IN MEN
ROY O. GILBERT, M.D.
Los Angeles County
Health Officer

It is one of the tragic weaknesses of man that if his car develops the slightest ping he can hardly wait to describe the trouble to a competent mechanic, yet if his body develops a "ping" (the only model he will ever have) he is inclined to scoff at the idea of seeking medical advice.

Men in general seem less inclined than women to seek medical attention promptly. This is especially true where the complaint seems trivial, and many of the early symptoms of cancer are of this kind.

It is a misfortune that the early symptoms of cancer are not dramatic, often being no more than a slight discomfort after eating, a slight distaste for meat, or the development of spots—sore or otherwise—in the mouth. The real he-man is inclined to scoff at these "mild" disorders.

For one thing, he knows that not every such symptom means cancer and, in addition, many men have the false conviction that cancer is a woman's disease. This is untrue, of course, as is evidenced in cancer of the lung.

Where cancer is concerned this form of procrastination is as fatal a foible as a man can have—and perhaps his last one.

For with this disease the sole chance of survival depends on his ability to recognize symptoms early and to seek medical attention as promptly as the earliest symptoms are suspected. In lung cancer it is preferable to detect the disease BEFORE the symptoms occur.

It is estimated that for every month a person delays seeking medical care after the first sign of cancer appears, the chances of being cured decrease by 10 to 20 per cent. When one considers that many types of cancer allow only a 50 per cent chance of survival even with the most prompt medical attention—a delay of two or three months is a form of suicide.

Men dislike concerning themselves with what seems trivial and unimportant, and they also dislike having people think that they are afraid. They do not even want their doctor to know that they are afraid of cancer.

But any disease which will take a toll of about 83,000 men during the next 12 months is something to guard against. Twelve months of fierce fighting in Korea resulted in far fewer deaths than cancer claimed during the same period.

In this matter men should be prudent, and should exhibit the same caution and wisdom with which they handle their business affairs. If you are suspicious of cancer it is far better to go to a doctor and learn that you do not have it, than to wait until pain forces you to one after it is too late to treat the disease.

A booklet on cancer will be forwarded to those who write to the Los Angeles County Health Department, 341 North Figueroa St., Los Angeles.

Campfire Notes

Camp Fire was well represented at the community flower show last weekend at the Congregational church with three special entries. A-O-Wa-Ki-ya, sixth graders under the leadership of Mrs. William Waite and Mrs. Harold Drury, made and decorated an earring tree, with each pair of earrings made from different nature items, such as tiny pine cones, pods and seeds.

Fifth graders under Mrs. Charles Abby, the We-KIN-Ya group, worked out in flowers the symbols of their Indian name which means, "We will sing our way through life being kind, gentle and helpful." Flowers were donated by Mrs. Carl H. Hobson.

Bluebirds were represented by the FLYING BLUEBIRDS, fourth graders under the direction of Mrs. Helmut Vorster and Mrs. Harold Clardy. The girls made a gilded "Activity Tree" with little flying bluebirds and miniature figures representing all of their activities during the past year.

O-TOP-A Camp Fire girls, seventh graders led by Mrs. Tom Willis and Mrs. William Harris, had a very special dinner party on Nov. 5 at the home of Mrs. Severin Sorenson, at which half of the group planned and gave the dinner for the other half, which is a requirement for obtaining Fire-maker's rank. After dinner, the girls made tray-favors for the hospital and enjoyed a talk by Mrs. Wayne Percell, president of the VFW Ladies Auxiliary, the group's sponsor.

Hostesses for the evening were Marie Sorenson, Carol Ogren and Karen Schmidt, and hoping these girls were good cooks were guests Linda Willis, Susan Harris, Diane Steele and Mary Lou Gentry. The table was decorated with a horn of plenty and the foods were international, in keeping with Camp Fire's birthday project this year.

The Sierra Madre Leader's Association met at the home of Mrs. William Harris to plan the fall Council Fire which will take place on Friday evening, Dec. 3. Special highlight of the meeting was a fascinating demonstration of the use of crayons and stenciling in camp programs, given by Miss Rice of the American Crayon Company.

MRS. LUCY MARQUORDT
HOSTS ARTISTS TEA

In observance of Art Week, Mrs. Lucy Marquardt, 290 San Gabriel Court, recently held an artist tea in her home. The members of the Sierra Madre Friendship Club were guests.

Sierra Madre Women Elected to Sister Kenny Council

Two Sierra Madre residents were recently elected to the Sister Kenny Community Relations Council. They are Mrs. Robert D. Sweet, 31 East Bonita Avenue, who will serve as chairman; and Mrs. Bashford Perry Sewall, 252 East Grand View, who will serve as a volunteer member.

As volunteers, they will work to acquaint Sierra Madre residents of the function of the famous Sister Kenny Polio Hospital in El Monte and the two outpatient clinics—one on the hospital grounds and one in metropolitan Los Angeles at 3808 Ingraham Street. The Council is a year-round volunteer group giving their services at the hospital to aid patients, and furthering the public education program of the Sister Kenny Foundation.

By having members in each community of the greater Los Angeles area, the Community Relations Council hopes to inform citizens of the help they can obtain from the Sister Kenny Foundation if struck by polio.

Supported largely by public contributions, the facilities of the hospital and its two outpatient clinics are available to anyone regardless of race, religion, residence, color, age or financial status. The hospital is the only one in the West which specializes entirely in the treatment of poliomyelitis and uses the Kenny method of care exclusively. Any patient who requests Kenny treatment after the seven-day contagion period will be admitted to the Sister Kenny Polio Hospital if a bed is available.

Mrs. Sweet will serve the Council three years; and Mrs. Sewall has volunteered for two years. President of the group is Mrs. Stephen G. Skinner of Downey.

Pasadena Playhouse Founder to Take Prominent Part in Eastern Meeting

Gilmer Brown, founder and president of the Pasadena Playhouse, departs for New York, Nov. 20, en route to the annual Playhouse Associates luncheon.

Alumni, former staffers and perennial friends of the Playhouse will meet at New York's Piccadilly Hotel at noon Sunday, Nov. 28, to hear a report from Brown on past year's activities and plans for the forthcoming season. Many of the more illustrious grads of the famed theater-school are expected at the conclave, according to word from Associates President Elmer Rice. Among those whose careers started at the Playhouse are Academy Award-winner William Holden, Drama Critics Circle award-winner Lloyd Nolan, Victor Mature, Eleanor Parker, Dana Andrews, Robert Young and many others.

During his Eastern visit, Brown will sit in with executive sessions of the National Theater Conference and the American Educational Theater Association, both of which he has belonged to for many years. He will discuss plans and policies of the Playhouse College of Theater Arts with other educational theater leaders.

Few men anywhere will ever be missed as Woodson Jones will be missed in Sierra Madre. Everyone who was a youngster here 25 years or so ago will always remember him as a sort of everyday Santa Claus, and that applies to many who are youngsters here today. He loved children, loved to chat with them and always seemed to have a candy bar or stick of gum or some other little treat for every youngster he encountered. He was equally friendly with their elders. It took him a quarter-hour or more to walk from his office to the bank because he stopped to exchange a few friendly words with persons on the street. It is doubtful if ever a business day passed in which he did not invite at least two or three such persons into the nearest lunch counter to have a cup of coffee.

Everyone who bought property through him found him a salesman to whom any kind of deception or trickery was a stranger, everyone who rented through him found him as considerate and kind as he could be and everyone whose property he handled found him scrupulously honest.

When my son, John, came home from Japan and Korea he was as touched to see Mr. and Mrs. Jones at the little reception we gave him and his bride as to see those who had been away for years. In the war, in the Berlin Air Lift and on special missions to Greece and Turkey before going to Japan, but the affection he had cherished for Mr. Jones since he was a little boy was a bright and shining thing.

Edwin L. Drinkwater Sister Kenny Patient

Edwin L. Drinkwater, 482 E. Sierra Madre Blvd., was recently admitted to the Sister Kenny hospital in El Monte where he is undergoing treatment for poliomyelitis. Mr. Drinkwater has paralysis of the right shoulder and arm, it is reported.

Any stranger who stopped to inquire directions from Woodson felt he had come to a friendly town, for Woodson didn't merely tell him. He would walk out into the street to point out landmarks and give directions. He was the embodiment of the old-fashioned friendliness of Sierra Madre. It was a faith-inspiring privilege to have known him and it will always be a pleasure to remember him.

We should all be proud that our neighbor, Dr. Linus Pauling, who lives on the edge of the Coronet area, has been awarded the Nobel Prize for chemistry. That is one of many honors, including the Presidential medal for his great contributions to military science during World War II. In an age when chemistry is improving and protecting our lives as is no other one thing, Dr. Pauling's research has greatly aided this nation's advance in nuclear physics, and some of his other discoveries, such as the creation and control of antibodies, are expected to be of incalculable benefit to medical research — the war against disease.

Yet, despite all he has done for the protection and welfare of this nation, the fact that two or three times he lent his name — just as Eisenhower and others of unquestioned Americanism did — to movements which later became more radical than they were at the beginning, made some persons question his loyalty, though no act of his has ever been found to be in any way disloyal. I have known Dr. Pauling at least 15 years and I never knew him to do or say or even vaguely suggest anything to which any true American would not be proud to subscribe. I think he is not only a devoted American but a great man, eager to be of great service to mankind and greatly gifted with ability to be of such service.

Congressman Edgar W. Heistand REPORTS THE WASHINGTON NEWS

HOUSING ACT OF 1954 BY Albert M. Cole, Administrator, Housing and Home Finance Agency

(Guest Columnist for Representative Edgar W. Heistand.) Since your Congressman, Edgar W. Heistand, is a member of the House Banking and Currency Committee, under whose consideration comes the matter of housing, I am glad to submit this "guest column" at his request.

The Housing Act of 1954 enacted into law by the 83rd Congress and signed by President Eisenhower will mean more and better homes for more American families and will mark the turning point in the battle of our cities against slums and blight.

The basic philosophy of this Act joins together for the first time three primary forces: (1) the eradication of slums in the United States and the redevelopment of the land upon which these slums have rotted; (2) public housing to provide homes for Americans with minimum income until they can acquire homes of their own at prices they can afford; (3) ample federally insured credit to stimulate the building of more than 1,000,000 new homes a year and the rehabilitation of existing but still sound homes.

The rehabilitation of homes is a completely new development in the nation's housing concept which will in time arrest the spread of blight in our communities.

The Act gives us a go-ahead for public housing that we did not have before—35,000 more units than had been previously authorized.

This new Housing Act is the product of a partnership among government, private industry, and the representatives of all segments of our society. They together designed the Act as a simultaneous attack on all fronts of the housing problem—a problem which cannot be brought under control in a piece-meal fashion. The liberalized FHA insurance provisions of the Act, permitting lower down payments and longer terms for repayment, will bring the benefits of liberal mortgage loans to millions of additional families with modest incomes who wish to own their own homes.

The Act reorganized the Federal National Mortgage Association so as to enable that agency ultimately to become independent of Federal capital while continuing at the same time to function as a support of the nation's mortgage market. The Act provides a national institution to mobilize their own resources to supply adequate mortgage credit to home owners through an industry-supported voluntary credit extension program.

This new law has also stopped up some loopholes in the old laws which allowed crooks to operate with Federal insurance. New regulations have also been issued by the new FHA commissioner to the same end. A number of changes have been made in key personnel in the FHA as the result of our investigation of FHA, and I am confident that the new organization operating under the new Housing Act will provide the kind of clean cut and effective operation that this administration wants.

Tom Hendersons Enjoying Holiday

Friends have received word from Mr. and Mrs. Tom Henderson who have been touring the Northwest since Oct. 5, that they are enjoying the sights of Oregon, Idaho and Washington.

The travelers state the weather has been grand with only two days of rain. Even though the nights are cold the days are sunny and the autumn leaves make the countryside a beautiful picture. The Hendersons expect to return to Sierra Madre about the middle of December.

Letter to the Editor

Words of Thanks
Dear Sir:

It is a wonderful thing to experience the friendliness and helpfulness of your neighbors when you are in trouble. We felt this community spirit during the fire and flood catastrophes—but now I learned of it in a personal way.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all those people who have been so kind to us during what turned out to be quite a simple event, but took hours of worrying and anxious waiting to solve. My heart-felt thanks to my neighbor, Jim Marlin, who came over to borrow my jigsaw and didn't come home again, tired, hungry and thirsty, until 20 hours later—to those two wonderful boys, Denny Humphreys and Pugi McDonald, who came up to help us and showed us their own shortcut home to the dam and the members of the search and rescue party, called out twice in such short a time and the other folks, too numerous to mention, who changed a nightmare into a wonderful, human experience.

Vignettes by Virginia Pittinger

I encountered real hostility only once in Greece. It was at Christmas time and I had gone into one of the nicer stores to buy some ornaments for our home-made tree. Because Christmas trees were a rarity, ornaments were not easy to find. As a matter of fact, the entire Christmas season itself might almost have slipped by unnoticed except that there was quite a bit more frequent church going.

We had made some decorations of our own by rolling walnuts in aluminum foil, pasting pieces of colored paper together and tying gay red bows on long pine needles; still we needed some REAL ornaments to fill in the empty places.

But when I began to shop for them, I found the prices appalling. In the stores I picked up a small replica of the Parthenon and turned to the young girl who was waiting to help me. "This is very nice," I smiled admiring the spangled cardboard and the red cellophane windows. "How much is it?"

She did not return my smile. Her face was stiff and disinterested as she answered, "It's $2."

"Two dollars!" I blinked stupidly.

"Yes," her voice was impatient, her English excellent. "And this," picking up a larger Parthenon, "is $4—and this is $2.50."

"And this?" I interrupted holding up a pik (about 25 inches) of tinsel.

"Two dollars."

I dropped it. "Aren't your prices a bit high?"

She shrugged. "For you, perhaps. But for us no."

I blinked again. "You mean YOU can afford prices like these?"

I was confused. Was she being proud in the face of what she considered criticism of her country? Before I could say anything further she began to re-arrange the stock all the while talking to me in a furiously low voice that only I could hear. "You Americans! You think that you can buy the whole world with your money. But we know that in your own country you are starving. All this show of wealth—it's a decadent capitalist trick!"

I almost laughed with relief. I hadn't hurt her feelings at all—had merely run afoul of the Party line.

"Do I look starved? I asked in some amusement.

Her eyes flickered over my clothes and my face. "You are not of the working class. It is they who suffer."

"What you are saying is Communist propaganda. It's not true. I have just come from America and I know."

"You lie."

The words were bait. Even in my fury I knew it. They were bait to make me defend truth that needed no defending. I swallowed hard, then I said as quietly as I could, "That you must decide for yourself."

"I have decided. I know that you lie—all of you."

"It is sad," I said, "to be stupid and unable to tell the true from the false. But to be intelligent and afraid to do so—that is worse."

An angry stain crept from her neck to her face. I turned to leave. Then I remembered something and turned back.

"Merry Christmas!" I said.

THE SAN DIEGO PADRES of the Little League Baseball League, recent winners of the Little League pennant, were special guests of their sponsor the Sierra Madre Volunteer Fire Department at a party at the firehouse recently. Members of the ball club were presented with trophies and were given the thrill of sliding down the firemen's chute. (Parents of the boys were also allowed to do this, too, we understand.) The evening was topped off with refreshments. Those present to receive their trophies were: Dale Trowbridge, and Wally Clardy, catchers; Bill Kinstle, pitcher; Ronny Franzen, first base; Doug Morris, (Bill Burke) Jim Kelleher, Sandy Marchetti, Richard Nakano, Steven Miller, Bill Plumlee, and Baird Caswell, fielders. Mike Weston, pitcher, was unable to attend, but the trophy was received by his brother, the mascot of the team, Timmy. Tommy Lynch, also absent, was represented by his father, and Frank Dane, who did a fine job of coaching, was unable to attend. Gene Toms was in charge of entertainment.

Radioactive Timber Beetles

It is said that beetles are currently causing more damage than are forest fires in Oregon's timberlands.

Oregon State College and the forestry department are catching beetles and feeding them a glucose solution containing radioactive isotopes. Then they are released. They can be located later by Geiger counters. Thru this experiment it is hoped to learn how far they fly, how they disperse to attack other trees, and their other life habits.

Thus may be evolved a practical method of combating an enormous economic loss.

also known as the Persian or Turban Ranunculus and the Anemone often goes by the lovely name of Windflower.

The Ranunculus is an erect-growing plant, reaching 12 to 18 inches in height. Its leaves are bright green, and flowers, globular and profuse during its blooming periods. With Ranunculus you get a variety of shades in all colors except blue. Improved forms of this bulb flower are Camellia-like with double or ruffled blossoms, all ideal for cut flower arrangements.

There are two common Anemone varieties — Anemone Apennina and Anemone Coronaria — or Poppy-flowered Anemone. Very hardy, the Anemone is lower growing than the Ranunculus and its blooms are solitary, set on 6 to 14-inch stems amongst bright green foliage. The Apennina grows to six to nine inches with sky blue blossoms. The Poppy-flowered Anemone is the Anemone of the florists. Very showy blooms, Poppy-like in shape, come in various combinations of white, red and blue. This variety grows from 12 to 14 inches and its different strains offer single and double flowers in mixed and pure colors.

Generally sun-loving, the Ranunculus should be planted in half-shade in warm climates. Planting may be done successfully now through January. Before planting soak Ranunculus bulbs from two to three hours and then set them in light, loamy soil about one inch deep and six inches apart with their claws pointed down. Birds have a special fondness for the young foliage of this bulb in the winter when other food is scarce. Avoid trouble with them by planting early or covering new plants with wire. Water and feed Ranunculus as you would annuals.

Ranunculus bulbs sometimes carry over a virus infection from year to year, causing distorted growth. Garden authorities therefore recommend that new bulbs be planted each year.

planted depends on the variety. Apennina appreciates slight shade while the Poppy-flowered Anemone prefers sun. Anemone bulbs may be planted throughout November; in cold areas they may be planted even into spring. Planted now the bulbs should have a mulch or leaf mold or peat moss six to eight inches deep spread over their beds after the first hard frost. Anemone need be soaked only an hour before planting.

In either a rich well-drained loam or flats of damp sand the Anemone will start well. Plant three inches deep, six inches apart and keep the plants moist through the blooming season.

Both Anemone and Ranunculus perform well planted in garden borders or in containers. The Anemone is also very effective in rock gardens. In the house both are excellent as cut flowers.

Most nurseries now have healthy Ranunculus and Anemone bulbs where you can get a supply and prepare for the bright spring colors of these flowers.

DON'T RACE THE TRAFFIC LIGHTS

Don't race the traffic lights at busy intersections, advises the National Automobile Club. If you make it across that intersection at 50 m.p.h. while the lights are changing from yellow to red, you may save a few minutes but you may also lose your life.

Gould with Goldberg Contraption Makes Home for Unwelcomed 'Possums

The cost of bacon being what it is, Horace L. Gould, 137 E. Sierra Madre Blvd., wishes the possums in Sierra Madre would stay away from the trap he made to catch a skunk. (Any possum reading this, please note.)

The bacon is the bait in the trap which Gould's sister, Mrs. Emily Crockett at the same address, describes as being a "Rube Goldberg contraption" consisting of various sticks and strings and an old apple box. Trouble is, it works—but for possums, and one rat, only.

Gould did away with the rat, but he couldn't bring himself to hurt the possums. After collecting four, which he kept in a pen to feed, he decided the whole arrangement was slightly ridiculous. So he let the possums go.

Now he's wondering if he dares set the trap again. Biggest question in his dilemma: "How many possums does a man have to feed to catch one skunk?"

Garlands Fourth Store Now Open

Formal opening of Garlands fourth store was held last weekend with bigtime entertainment which included Ina Mae Hutton and her orchestra, Ginny Jackson and other well known television stars.

The new operation for the three Garlands, R. E. Larry, and Russel, is a variety store and is a part of a new shopping center at Downey at the corner of Imperial and Paramount. The store has modern design with a 100-foot frontage, Larry Garland reported.

Other stores operated by the trio are located in Sierra Madre, Arcadia and Compton.

"We are very proud of our new store and we'd like any Sierra Madreans who are down that way to stop in and see it. We haven't decided so far who will manage it. We're all taking turns. Tomorrow's my turn to open up bright and early," Larry told the NEWS.

Sierra Madreans See Carl Smith Ordained

Eleven Sierra Madreans attended the ceremonies Tuesday morning at the St. James Episcopal Church in Los Angeles where Carl Smith, formerly the Rev. Smith of Sierra Madre's Congregational Church, was ordained by the Rt. Rev. Donald James Campbell, D.D.

Those who drove to the church address at Wilshire Blvd. and S. St. Andrews Place were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lange, Col. and Mrs. Walter Thurber, Mrs. Marcus Woodward, Albert Paus, Dr. Raymond Pease, Mr. and Mrs. Louis George, Mrs. Helen Haas, and Mrs. Herbert Seifert.

The Rev. Mr. Smith, who has been at the St. James Wilshire Church since September, served the Congregational Church here for eight years.

"GOODS OF THE WOODS"

LAST MINUTE REHEARSALS are underway for the Shakespeare Club Junior's collegiate musical, "College Daze," which will be presented Friday, Nov. 12, and Saturday, Nov. 13, at the Shakespeare Auditorium, 230 S. Los Robles, Pasadena, at 8:30 p.m. Among those from the Ranch going through their parts are (left to right) Mrs. Dale R. Sandro, Robert G. Cushman, James W. Simpson and Mrs. William M. Laub.

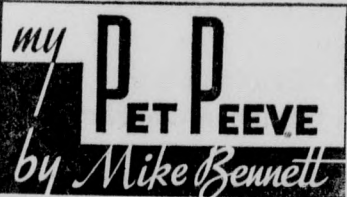

David Brown Marks Eighth Birthday At 'Bingo Party'

David Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Harvey Brown Jr., 1405 Hastings Ranch Rd., recently celebrated his eighth birthday at a "Bingo Party."

Highlights of the afternoon's fun came when the mail man delivered presents to the guest of honor from his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Lundin, who are touring the United States, and his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J.H. Brown of Pittsburgh, Pa., and a great-aunt, Miss Margaret Brown, also of Pittsburgh.

Those young guests arriving to enjoy the birthday cake decorated in "western style" and the games were Toni Loomis, Susanne Wynn, Diane Sullivan, Deanna Rowan, Eddie Blackman, Gary Woods, Ronnie Stine, John Davis, Jack Gates, Brad Lundin, a cousin, and David's sister, Jan.

Mrs. Brown's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Lundin of Inglewood, also joined the happy group.

AN EXTENDED business trip by automobile has led me to the following conclusion: highway markers are too few and too small; highway advertisements are too many and too big.

Granted from the start that billboards along the by-ways are usually interesting. Most travelers who aren't driving—and some who are) enjoy reading them as they whiz along. For my money, however, the amusement they furnish doesn't compensate for the scenic views they hide and the distraction they bring to folks trying to follow road signs along a strange route.

You can be sailing along until you come upon a six-way intersection. It takes a couple of minutes to decipher all the little road signs and determine which way to proceed. You wouldn't have any trouble getting to "Joe's Place" however, because signs for the past 15 miles have been suggesting that you turn left or right or go straight ahead at the next main intersection.

Billboards are disappointing in another way, too. For miles upon miles you pass gaudy signs advertising "Joe's Place"—the food, the decor, the atmosphere, the economical prices. You build up a mental vision of "Joe's Place" and as each mile marker tells you it's only so many more miles to go, you tingle with anticipation. You will soon be reaching the wonderful spot.

And, so it happens. "Joe's Place" is a spot—a small spot by a wide place in the road—not half so big as the signs which have described its wonders for mile upon mile.

Reading roadside advertisements while you travel is fun. But it's just as exciting to count the white mules along the way.

Two Plus Two Equals Seven Subject Sermon at Methodist

The 12th Sunday in Kingdome will be observed at the Methodist Church with the minister, the Rev. Raynor Smith, preaching on "Two Plus Two Equals Seven." You will be intrigued by this crazy arithmetic. Morning worship services are at both 9:30 a.m. and 11:00 a.m. Church School classes are at 9:30 a.m. There is a place for every child of every age group.

The first annual Harvest Dinner will be held this Friday evening, Nov. 12, at 6:30 p.m. The dinner is being put on by the ladies of the Woman's Society of Christian Service.

All Methodist men are invited to a dinner at the church on Tuesday evening, Nov. 16. This is a men's only dinner and will be a time of fellowship and planning. The time is 6:30 p.m. and the place is Church of Our Redeemer.

"The City" will be the title of a thrilling motion picture to be shown at the all-church family night on Thursday evening, Nov. 18. A covered dish supper is at 6:30 p.m. Each family is requested to bring its own table service. Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Hans-Ove Jensen, CU, 5-2100, and Mrs. Harold Porter, CU, 5-1758. All who plan to come are requested to contact one of these ladies for suggestions as to what they should bring.

COASTING DOWN GRADES

Coasting down a grade is an illegal and highly dangerous practice, warns the Public Safety Department of the National Automobile Club.

Rev. D. Ostrander Attends Meeting

Presbyterian ministers and laymen representing 159 Southland churches gathered Tuesday at Bethany Presbyterian church for the first meeting of the winter session of the Presbytery of Los Angeles.

Attending the all-day meeting was the Rev. Donald H. Ostrander, pastor of the Trinity Presbyterian church, who was accompanied by Ruling Elder Mrs. Jean Wooley.

Loyalty Sunday at Congregational

Members of the Congregational church will observe "Loyalty Sunday" at both services. A pot-luck dinner will be served following the 11 a.m. worship service.

Rev. Harry Leach, pastor, has chosen as his subject, "Making Our Burdens Easy."

Alberta Hurst On Sunday Program

Alberta Hurst, cellist, will continue the series of chamber music programs at Pasadena Art Museum next Sunday afternoon at 3:30. Nov. 14, playing two Suites for cello alone by Bach. She performed two last month and will appear later in the season to complete the cycle of six written by Bach. These programs are sponsored by the Pasadena Branch, The Music Teachers' Association of California and are open to the public with no admission charge.

News of the Churches

Bethany Adds New Sunday School Classes

The attendance record of Bethany Sunday school was broken for the third time in the past four weeks last Sunday. Art Bush, superintendent, pointed out that the formation of new classes has enabled the Sunday school to absorb the new growth and still keep the standard of instruction high.

Much of the growth has been realized in the adult classes. There are four separate classes for adults ranging from the Voyagers class taught by Dr. Schaper for young married couples to the Berean class for all over 60 taught by F. D. R. Moore. Rev. Reaburn Woodson and Rev. Hugh Bell are teaching Markers class and the II Timothy 2:15 class, respectively.

RELIGIOUS SCIENCE CHURCH SUBJECT CHALLENGING

"Removing Barriers to Happiness" will be the subject of Sunday's sermon by Dr. Barnhart at Santa Anita Church of Religious Science, 778 South Rosemead Blvd., Pasadena. November 18, the topic of the Thursday evening meeting will be "Reaping the Harvest." Meetings are held at 8 p.m. at the church and are open to the public.

LOS ALAMOS

Los Alamos, site of so much atomic research in New Mexico, is reported by the National Automobile Club to have been named for the lowly cottonwood tree.

IMMORTAL LIFE SUNDAY SUBJECT

Maintaining man's eternal likeness to God brings freedom from discord and disease, says the Sunday Lesson-Sermon on "Immortal Life" in all Christian Science churches.

The Golden Text from John (3:6) reads, "That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit."

It is related in The Acts (28: 3-6, 9) that when Paul was shipwrecked on the island of Melita, "there came a viper out of the heat, and fastened on his hand. And when the barbarians saw that 'he shook off the beast into the fire, and felt no harm . . . they . . . said that he was a god.' When he had healed the father of Publius of a fever, 'others' also, which had diseases in the island, came, and were healed."

In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" Mary Baker Eddy declares, "Sin, sickness, and death must disappear to give place to the facts which belong to immortal man." Then she counsels, "Learn this, O mortal, and earnestly seek the spiritual status of man, which is outside of all material selfhood" (p. 476).

—it should be pronounced Sierra MA-dray. OK!

Members of the Women's Fellowship of the Congregational church report a completely successful Community Flower Show held last Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 6 and 7.

Not only were the exhibits unusually attractive but the cafeteria supper given on Saturday night was a complete sell-out. The supper was an innovation for the group and all women associated with the affair were pleased with the excellent response to the new feature.

Now that cooler weather is setting in, people with a "touch of arthritis" are again aware of its painfulness.

Arthritis of Hands and Fingers Relieved

Ultrasonic treatments are giving freedom from pain from this most agonizing affliction. Application of ultrasonic energy by the "emerson method" as used on a substantial number of patients, has been perfected now to a point where practically all are singing praises for the benefits achieved. Even in cases of the extremely aged, response has been most remarkable.

Treatments are required about every fourth day until results begin to develop. Thereafter once a week or even less frequently are indicated until all pain and soreness has gone. Results are slower in cases in which laboratory test shows ionizable calcium to be below normal in the blood.

Having pioneered use of ultrasonics in healing and developed many improvements in the techniques now in use through lecturing widely throughout the United States to Graduate Doctors on our clinical experience and methods we are in a position to assure our patients that when ultrasonics is used, it will be used to the best possible advantage.

We wish to thank the Merchants of Sierra Madre for their expression of good wishes on our opening on Nov. 5.

We also appreciate the consideration of the many friends who came in to visit our new offices on that occasion.

Jr Red Cross Drive Starts In Schools

The Junior Red Cross Enrollment Drive and the annual Gift Box program, started this week in all Sierra Madre schools. Donations of a penny or more will make each child a member of the American Junior Red Cross and surplus funds are sent to the National Children's Fund which is designed to meet emergency needs of children both at home and abroad. During the past year, $1,100,000 worth of basic health and educational supplies have been sent abroad.

The gift boxes are to be packed at school and although they are small, they hold a surprising number of items. The boxes themselves, bearing the words "Gift of the Schools"

YOUR home can be dangerous unless you have installed some simple devices for real safety. Check this list and see how many of these are employed in your home:

Orderly rooms with all passages kept clear and free of toys, pieces of furniture that jut out, etc., contribute to safety should you have to hurry and not have time to pay special attention to where you're going.

Electric cords under rugs? These can make you fall easily and cause injury. If cords are long and cannot be set out of the way, they can be tacked to the wall or baseboard.

Carpeting and rugs should be securely anchored. Most rugs will

TRY ANNUALS FOR BULB BED "COLOR COVER"

To have color in bulb beds before the bulbs themselves come up, plant low growing annuals over the bulbs. You can do this by hand-casting seed on the smoothed-over surface of the beds and, in the case of some annuals, by planting seedlings from nursery flats.

Pointing out that such ground covers should be low growing, so as not to dominate the bulbs later on, the California Association of Nurserymen recommends the following as generally good: Virginian Stock, Linaria, Nephophila (or Baby Blue Eyes), Angallis, Baby Primrose, Aslyssum Carpet of Snow or the All-American Alyssum Royal Carpet. Pansies and Violas often can be utilized also.

The compact Virginian Stock—different from regular cut flower stock that grows two or three feet high—will provide a mass of pastel tones and bloom in about 12 weeks. Linaria in the variety called Fairy Primrose is profuse in habit of bloom. Nemesis Dwarf Giants are good, since they grow only about eight inches high and are tidy of habit. Consider Tom Thump varieties of Dwarf Flowering Viscaria also.

Candytuft, Virginian Stock,

Scarlet Flax and Baby Blue Eyes are a few plants that will blend well. Baby Blue Eyes also goes well with Yellow Trumpet, Daffodils, and Virginian Stock does nicely with light-colored Daffodils.

With taller growing bulbs, such as Dutch Iris, you might try Godetia, Clarkia, Scarlet Flax and Larkspur.

When casting seed, pulverize the seed well and sprinkle the seed lightly. As in the case of a newly sown lawn, the seed bed should have careful watering. Keep the soil moist until germination has occurred. If the annuals become too profuse, they should be thinned out. However, by mixing the seed with sand or perlite, in ratios that your nurseryman can recommend, you will automatically spread the seed out and probably avoid having to "thin out" later on.

Remember, even if it is too cool in your locale, to get results from a ground cover of annuals during December to February, they will very definitely give you color in late February or March.

gas reserves while at the same time seeking to spur the discovery and development of new gas deposits. The industry has already demonstrated that it can grow strong in the present regulatory climate. The Federal Power Commission has two responsibilities to the nation in this regard: (1) To keep this great industry healthy by maintaining wise and realistic policies to guarantee that natural gas—a valuable, irreplaceable resource—is utilized to serve the interests of all the people as far into the future as possible, and (2) to keep the price of natural gas as low as possible, consistent with the first responsibility.

stay in place if they have rubberized backing or a pad. Stair carpeting and smaller rugs should be painted with a non-slip solution or have rubber jar rings sewed to the corners.

Cigars and cigarettes can cause fire or at least damage if you have ashtrays from which they can fall out when left unattended. Select trays in which they can burn themselves out.

of the United States of America Through the American Junior Red Cross" are purchased through the National Children's Fund, which also pays expenses for shipping the filled boxes from this country to their destination.

Among the many items that children are asked to bring from home are: crayons, erasers, soap, toothpaste, combs, handkerchiefs, toy scissors, shoe laces, socks, flower or vegetable seeds and many other things.

Mrs. Leo H. Meyer is chairman of the Junior American Red Cross and will be glad to supply further information on acceptable items for the boxes.
